

The Washington Goethe-Institut and the Washington Office of The Friedrich Ebert Foundation cordially invite you to this event.

Otto Klemperer And His Time

Tracking A Lost Identity

German Author Eva Weissweiler will talk about her forthcoming book on the life of one of the greatest conductors of the 20th century.

Tuesday, March 24, 2009 | 6:30 pm

at the Goethe-Institut Washington
812 Seventh Street, NW

A Conversation with

Eva Weissweiler, German Author

Commentator

Daniel Schwartz, Department of History, George Washington University

Moderator

Mary Beth Stein, Department of German and Slavic Languages and Literatures, GWU

Opening Remarks

Ulrich Braess, Director, Goethe-Institut Washington, DC

Almut Wieland-Karimi, Director, Friedrich Ebert Foundation, Washington, DC

To RSVP call 202-408-5444 or e-mail fesdc@fesdc.org